

This little bungalow offers a surprise entry because it opens into a beautiful vaulted great room. This is way better than grandma's old house, but just as timeless. It even has an open kitchen-dining area so everyone feels like they have a place to "do their thing" (now there's a phrase you don't hear anymore!).

With all the bedrooms-and again the laundry room-upstairs, a young family will feel safe and connected. Sure makes it easy to get up at night for the 2 a.m. feeding when that little one is just across the hall.

Once again we have left you a whole lower level to move in to when it's time for family games, playtime or exercise. Who knew that bungalow living could be this wonderful? We did, and now so do you.

When you can connect the old with the new and create a pleasant environment for all, then you know you are...Home at Last.
